SAXBY GOLD PROJECT AND CANOBIE COPPER-GOLD DISTRICT QUEENSLAND (SER 100%)

A significant body of work was completed at the Saxby Gold project and the broader Canobie Copper-Gold District in northwest Queensland during the quarter.

A detailed structural geology review and analysis of hydrothermal alteration in historical drill core provided key targeting information for the recent drilling campaign and showed that Saxby is likely part of an Iron Oxide Copper Gold (IOCG) style system with paragenesis typical of deposits in the Cloncurry region.

Drilling at Saxby commenced in September targeting strike extensions of the key controlling structure for the brittle extensional veins that host gold mineralisation: a steeply dipping NNE-trending fault. Drilling has now completed with three diamond drill holes hitting their respective target areas (see Figure 2). Some deviation in azimuth and inclination was experienced in hole SXDD023 and was corrected.

Diamond core will be orientated, geologically logged, structurally logged and have petrophysical measurements taken. The entire drill core will be sampled and assayed with fire assay for gold and four-acid digest / inductively coupled plasma mass spectrometry and atomic emission spectroscopy for a full suite of elements. Assays are expected to start arriving in mid-November.

During the quarter, SER also extinguished the Net Smelter Royalty over the Saxby project.

As SER's understanding of the greater Canobie district has evolved, we have become convinced the district represents an extension of the Cloncurry IOCG province. As such, SER has now pegged five additional exploration licence applications surrounding our existing two licences to bring our total land holding to more than 1600km<sup>2</sup>. We have commenced a comprehensive geophysical review and targeting program over the district and will provide shareholders further details on this exciting work in the near future.

EAST TENNANT COPPER-GOLD PROJECT NORTHERN TERRITORY (SER 100%)

SER completed an extensive and detailed ground gravity survey over our three tenements in the emerging East Tennant Iron Oxide Copper Gold (IOCG) province of the Northern Territory. Gravity is a pivotal dataset to target IOCGs as they involve the introduction of iron-rich fluid into a host rock which increases the density.

SER collected more than 3000 new gravity stations which will be merged with existing stations collected by Geoscience Australia and St Barbara to provide a comprehensive, high-quality dataset over our three tenement areas. The gravity survey was co-funded by the Northern Territory's Geophysics and Drilling Collaboration Program, as part of the 'Resourcing the Territory' initiative.

Drilling in the East Tennant region commenced in September under the Mineral Exploration Cooperative Research Centre (MinEx CRC) National Drilling Initiative (NDI), a collaboration between MinEx CRC (of which SER is an Affiliate member), Geoscience Australia and the Northern Territory Geological Survey. This drilling will occur in close proximity to SER's three tenements. Once publicly released, the data will be critical to understanding the geology of the province. There is no historical drilling recorded on any of SER's tenements.

The official press release regarding the NDI is available via the MinEx CRC website: <https://minexcrc.com.au/press-release-world-first-minex-scientific-drilling-program-set-to-reveal-australias-hidden-wealth/>

The NDI will drill multiple holes through cover to map the regional geology, structural architecture and mineral system pathfinders in this underexplored province identified by Geoscience Australia as favourable for hosting large mineral systems. The results from the NDI could significantly upgrade the prospectivity of SER's tenements.

SER has engaged geophysical consultants to process and model the new and existing data to define Copper-Gold target areas and recommend any further collection (such as detailed magnetic and/or electrical geophysics) to refine priority targets for drill testing.

GAWLER CRATON COPPER-GOLD PROJECTS SOUTH AUSTRALIA

During the quarter, SER partnered with award-winning data science pioneer Caldera Analytics to search for Iron Oxide Copper Gold (IOCG) mineralisation on the Gawler Craton in South Australia.

Caldera Analytics (www.caldera.technology) have a deep understanding of hunting IOCGs on the Gawler using data science and machine learning. Caldera were the winners of the 2019 Oz Minerals Explorer Challenge and runners up in the 2020 South Australian Government ExploreSA Gawler Challenge.

The SER / Caldera partnership “Strategic Caldera” (80% SER, 20% Caldera) has now pegged ELA2020/147 east of Coober Pedy based on a synthesis of machine learning and traditional geoscientific ground selection methods. The following day, Rio Tinto Exploration pegged a large land holding adjacent to our application.

Strategic Caldera will now develop district and camp scale models that fuse machine learning and traditional exploration methodologies in order to refine target areas for further geophysical work and subsequent drill testing.
